LHCC and LE&RN Announce Collaboration to Advance Lymphatic Health in Canada

Organizations will share resources and expertise to help improve awareness and access to information for patients, caregivers, and healthcare professionals.

September 12th, 2026 – The Lymphatic Health Canadian Collective (LHCC) and the Lymphatic Education & Research Network (LE&RN) are pleased to announce a collaborative relationship focused on advancing lymphatic education, awareness, and community connections across Canada.

Through this relationship, LHCC will lead efforts across Canada to increase public understanding of the lymphatic system and lymphatic diseases, develop accessible educational resources, and help individuals and families better navigate available care, support, and treatment options. The organizations share a commitment to improving access to information, supporting high standards of lymphatic care, and fostering collaboration among therapists, clinicians, researchers, patients, advocates, and community leaders.

"Partnering with LE&RN gives us the opportunity to learn from and connect with an established leader in the lymphatic community while building an effort that is distinctly Canadian," said Leslie Mann, founding director of LHCC. "We believe collaboration across organizations and borders can help strengthen the entire lymphatic field and improve support for people living with lymphatic diseases."

"We are enthusiastic to collaborate with LHCC as it builds a strong foundation for lymphatic education and awareness in Canada," said William Repicci, president and CEO of LE&RN. "By sharing knowledge, resources, and best practices, we can help ensure that more patients, families, and healthcare professionals have access to the information and support they need."

LE&RN has spent more than 25 years advancing lymphatic education, research, advocacy, and patient support worldwide. As LHCC develops programs and partnerships tailored to the unique needs of Canadians, it will benefit from access to LE&RN's extensive experience, resources, and global network.

LHCC is currently pursuing charitable registration with the Canada Revenue Agency. Additional information about its programs, partnerships, and opportunities to support its work will be shared as the organization continues to grow. Together, LHCC and LE&RN look forward to identifying meaningful opportunities to advance lymphatic education, strengthen community connections, and improve awareness of lymphatic diseases throughout Canada.

About LHCC

The Lymphatic Health Canadian Collective (LHCC) is an advocacy and educational organization that seeks to strengthen understanding of lymphatic health and improve access to resources for patients, caregivers, and healthcare professionals across Canada.

Lymphatichealthcc.com or contact LHCC at Letushelp@lymphatichealthcc.com

About LE&RN

The Lymphatic Education & Research Network (LE&RN) is an internationally recognized non-profit organization founded to fight lymphatic diseases through education, research, and advocacy. LE&RN provides valuable educational resources, supports research initiatives, and promotes awareness worldwide. For free support in navigating the challenges of lymphatic diseases, visit the LE&RN Resource Center https://lymphaticnetwork.org/resource-center or by calling 1-855-378-8163.